

Cultivate a critical mindset for uncertain times

TASMANIAN WORKSHOP

Futures Thinking

with Dr Cheryl Doig

Learn from global futurist Dr. Cheryl Doig in this one-day workshop delving into essential futures concepts to gain a much-needed mindset for uncertain times. Perfect for anyone seeking to thrive in an ever-changing world and looking for a tool kit to do so.

Whether you work in business, government, or not-for-profits, this workshop will give you practical skills to lead your organisation forward. Don't miss your chance to gain skills in futures foresight.

BOOK NOW

Tuesday 23rd July 2024
9.00am – 5.00pm

Wrest Point Hotel and Conference Centre, Hobart

tasmanianleaders.org.au

What you'll gain

Regardless of your current challenges or level of understanding in futures thinking, you will leave this one-day workshop with:

- Improved strategic thinking to better handle complexity and uncertainty.
- Practical methods and tools to apply futures thinking and foresight to a range of situations.
- Increased understanding of how your ways of thinking shape your future, both personally and professionally.
- Comprehensive resources, templates and a post-workshop follow-up webinar with Katy Cooper

Who is it for?

This workshop is ideal for individuals and teams, including senior leadership teams and boards.

- Individuals and teams working in complex environments.
- People looking to shape change in their community, industry or workplace.
- Businesses and boards seeking to future-proof their strategies.
- Organisations and individuals interested in strategy and wanting to think longer term.
- Communities of practice and individuals interested in futures thinking.
- Organisations where equity and partnerships are a big part of the way they do business.

Your investment

$875* including a full day workshop, comprehensive materials, a followup webinar with Katy Cooper (Disruptive Co) and all catering.

Concession rates are offered to Tasmanian Leaders alumni, members and group bookings of 8+ participants.*

Group bookings

This workshop is ideal for individuals and teams, boards, senior executives, and community organisations as a pre-cursor to their strategic planning process.

To make the most of this opportunity for your team, we are offering group packages for up to eight delegates at $5,000 – a significant saving of $2,000 for your organisation. With limited availability, we encourage you to book today.

Should you require assistance with your booking, please contact karen.davis@tasmanianleaders.org.au

Workshop sessions

Introduction to futures and foresight	Why businesses are using futures/foresight practices and the meaning of key terms
Current state analysis	The link between past, present and future and how what we do today impacts future generations.
Environmental scan	An energetic activity that encourages you to move beyond current views and explore novel connections.
Scenario Fun	Transformed futures exploration, pushing the boundaries and mind flossing.
Future State Analysis	Using today's insights to create a new metaphor for the future and implications for leadership.
Backcasting	Take ideas to action, leave with a plan to get started.
Debrief	Connecting back to place and context.

Dr Cheryl Doig

Cheryl is a leadership futurist and connector. Her company Think Beyond works internationally, using futures thinking and tools to scan for the latest signals of change.

With over thirty years' governance experience in education, social impact and health, Cheryl speaks, writes, and contributes on topics of complex change, strategic foresight, futures thinking and leadership. She maintains long-held ties with Tasmania, having completed her Masters at UTAS in the early 2000's. Cheryl is also the founder of the Ōtautahi Futures Collective, Aotearoa Futures and Oceania Futures.

BOOK NOW