

Become a daring leader and build teams that flourish.

Dare to Lead™ has a new facilitation team for 2025! Entrepreneur and ex-CEO turned leadership coach, Martin Beeche joins Zoë Coyle for the 2025 Dare to Lead™ two-day program, based on Brené Brown's courage-building framework. Together Zoë and Martin have delivered Dare to Lead™ to thousands of people around Australia, New Zealand and South-East Asia.

This program will help you lean into your full potential as a leader, teach you how to create a high performance team culture and how to thrive in challenging situations.

About the workshop

This immersive workshop goes beyond traditional leadership training, offering practical tools and strategies drawn from extensive research to help you build braver, more resilient teams. Whether you are an established leader or aspiring to lead, you will gain the skills to build high performance teams, develop meaningful connections, have challenging conversations with greater confidence, and create an environment where innovation and trust flourish.

Based on the research of Dr Brené Brown, Dare to Lead™ focuses on developing courage-building skills to help individuals, teams and organisations move from armoured leadership to daring leadership. This program is one of the most sought-after leadership and culture interventions globally to build sustainability into organisations that will survive into the next decades of rapid change.

What you can expect to learn

Daring leadership is a collection of specific skills that can be taught, measured and observed. In this two-day workshop you will be taken through a step-by-step guide on how to develop these skills, including:

Meet your facilitators

Martin Beeche is an entrepreneur and multi-faceted leader from the education, technology and financial services sectors.

His experience of being a corporate CEO, multiple start-up founder, not-for-profit non-executive director, investment bank managing director and elite athlete, allows for a true understanding of what it takes to be a great leader.

Since 2020, Martin has been a senior facilitator and program designer with Pilot Light, and in 2024 he was appointed executive chair of technology startup Shapeable.ai. All this real-world experience brings a unique blend of leadership experience and cutting-edge research to his facilitation with Pilot Light.

Drawing from his background in high-stakes environments – from the competitive world of investment banking to representing his country in sports – he coaches and develops some of the Asia-Pacific region's most successful leadership teams. Martin has a passion for helping people live to their full potential and inspiring them to create a life filled with meaning, self-awareness and purpose.
