

LEADING THROUGH COMPLEXITY

Lead boldly in a fast-changing world.

Feeling overwhelmed by uncertainty and complexity?

We hear you. That's why we've brought together two of our top facilitators – Katy Cooper and Angela Driver – for this new workshop, diving into complexity leadership and futures thinking to equip you with the tools and adaptability needed to navigate and thrive in an ever-changing world.

About the workshop

This immersive workshop introduces leaders to practical tools for navigating complexity and developing an adaptive mindset.

In today's fast-changing world, organisations face uncertainty and interconnected challenges requiring adaptive strategies and future-focused thinking. This session helps you navigate these dynamics and position your team or organisation for sustained success.

Through practical exercises and proven methodologies, you will explore tools to anticipate trends via signal scanning, understand polarities and build resilience. The workshop covers futures thinking and systems approaches, enabling you to identify opportunities, mitigate risks, and lead effectively in uncertainty.

This workshop provides participants with four essential tools to:

- Identify emerging trends, plan for scenarios, and build resilience.
- Better understand complexity with an easy to apply sense-making tool
- Solve complex problems by understanding system interconnections.
- Effectively balance competing priorities and tensions.

Ideal for professionals across industries, this workshop is for those ready to embrace challenges, transform uncertainty into opportunity, and build long-term success.

I was fortunate to participate in a session on leading through complexity and change delivered by Angela Driver and Katy Cooper in 2024. I greatly appreciated their engaging manner and for sharing their considerable knowledge and experience. I took away many valuable insights to apply in my leadership role."

Katy and Angela take a systemic approach to understanding the complexities of the world today. Through supporting us to understand the systems and structural issues underpinning observable phenomena, they gave me new tools to create strategic interventions. Additionally, these facilitators see the importance of transforming our own personal perspectives and approaches before we seek to undertake organisational and social change."
